> of burglarizing the Richard drug store and was sentenced to serve the remainder of his minority at the Industrial school in Vergennes. The drug store was en-tered some time Sunday afternoon and when Ovilla Richard, the proprietor, returned to work in the evening he found one of the keys in the cash register had been pushed down and left. He investigated and found but $5.00 or $6.00, where there should have been about $16 or $17 The matter was reported to Chief of Po-lice Barber, who then began a scouting expedition. After close watch, Seymous was placed under arrest Monday after noon and given a severe grilling. Finally he admitted the theft. When asked if he had any of the money left he pulled some change from his pockets, about $1.10, and Chief Barber ran his hand in boy's pocket and pulled out anothe dollar. When asked what he did with the money he told of having gone to Queen City Park with a young lad by the name of John Norris, where, he said, they bought candy, hired a boat and had a "good time." Sunday evening they were in a restaurant. It was in this same restaurant where the boy was placed under arrest Monday. Young Norris asked Seymour where he got the money, who said a boarder at his mother's boarding house had given it to him. The store was entered through a cellar window on the Allen street side, Mr. Richard leaving it opened usually on a Sunday afternoon and closing it in the evening. is 11 years old.
